Definition: Domain

The domain of a function f is the set into which all of the inputs of the function are constrained to fall. We denote the domain of a function with

$$\text{dom}(f)$$